Nordic Sami Institute (NSI) was established in 1973. NSI is a Nordic research institution connected to the Sámi allaskuvla / Sámi University College. NSI's purpose is to strengthen and develop the Sámi language, society and culture through research. The Nordic Council of Ministers is the primary source of NSI's funding.

DIEDUT is a multi-disciplinary research series, in which the Nordic Sami Institute has published research findings since 1974. The series publishes collections of articles and monographs in the social sciences, linguistics and law. Diedut also carries book and article reviews. Diedut publishes in Sami, Norwegian, Swedish, Finnish, English and Russian languages. The editorial board of the series includes the leader of the Institute and senior researchers. Instructions to authors, see: www.nsi.no/diedut.
